emergence of intelligence, necessary because we cannot specify what intelligence is. A modular developmental system is constructed to aid the evolution of neural structures and a simple virtual world with many of the properties believed beneficial is set up to test these ideas. Resulting emergent properties are given, along with a brief discussion.

Emergence of Intelligence Through Reinforcement Learning with a Neural Network 3 is doing. We assume that since the brain is doing , the brain must be able to understand what the brain is doing. Then we expect that the brain will be understood by understanding each module individually, and also expect that human-like robots will be developed by
